

GIFT OF RETIREMENT ASSETS

A gift of retirement assets, also known as a retirement account designation, is one of the simplest and most efficient ways to leave a legacy that supports ministries even after your lifetime.

The owner of any IRA, 401(k), 403(b), or other tax-deferred retirement account can easily name his or her church as a future beneficiary of the account. This can be done at any time and is achieved through a simple beneficiary designation form you can request from your account administrator. Regardless of your age, you can go ahead and set your church up to receive all or a portion of the account—the choice is completely up to you!

During your lifetime, you will continue to use the retirement account as usual by taking any required or desired distributions. As you use the account, you can rest assured because a beneficiary designation gives you flexibility. If your or your heirs' needs change after making a designation, you can always request a new beneficiary designation form and make an adjustment to your plan.

This gift type is practical and tax efficient, yet most importantly it will continue to tell the story of your hope in Christ.

Check-list:

- ✓ DISCERN: Discuss the opportunity of this gift and your specific situation with your family and your tax, legal, and/or financial advisor.
- ✓ BENEFICIARY DESIGNATION FORM: Request a beneficiary designation form from your retirement plan administrator. Complete the form and be sure to return it to the administrator.

- ✓ INFORM THE CHURCH: Although completely optional, you may want to share the basic details of your retirement account gift intentions with the church. Advance knowledge of your gift can be of great help to the church.
- ✓ INSPIRE: Share news of your gift with loved ones. Tell of your faith and of the church in your life; invite loved ones and friends to consider how they can be a blessing to others through their own planned gift.
